National Bread

Did you ever—
Go into—
A neighbors house—
And sit down—
To dinner—
And when the bread was passed—
You saw—
How good it looked—
How even and brown the crust—
How white and fine the grain—
How sweet and fresh it was—
And when you took a bite—
Oh Boy—
Mother never made—
Bread like that—
And they didn't wait—
For you to ask—
Who made it—
They told you—
"It is NATIONAL BREAD—
We get it at Laut's", it's so good—
You're missing something—
If you don't try it.

L. Waters, who are leaving this district very shortly for their new home at Elbow, Sask. During the early part of the evening musical selections were rendered by Mesdames MacKay and Laut, and Mr. Golden, after which Rev. J. P. Dingle, in a few well chosen words expressed the deep regret which was felt by all in the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Waters, who had always been active in the service of the community and whose place it would be difficult to fill. On behalf of the Guild he asked Mrs. Waters to accept a handsome china bowl as a small token of respect and esteem. Mr. and Mrs. Waters having suitably responded, the whole company joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows" after which dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. S. Willis and members of the Guild, the happy company breaking up at 11:30 p. m. after joining hands in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton
Summer 1875.

By O-G-E-MAB-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

Well, I at last had reached a real plain fort, and though I headed this article Fort Ellis it has taken some time to get there. But my readers must understand when an old timer sits down to recall old events, reminiscences pour over him like a flood, and he is apt to wander from his subject, so please forgive me when I do this, and don't expect too much from the "Men Who Showed the Way."

Fort Ellis was a thoroughly well-built post for defence against hostile Indians, having a sixteen foot palisade with corner bastions and a walk around near the top of the wall made it impervious to savage attack. It was very picturesquely situated on the high bank of the Assiniboine River and commanded a beautiful view on all sides. Chief Factor Archie McDonald, a stern old martinet, was in charge. His wife was a sister of the well-known Sheriff Inkster and I have pleasant recollections of her kindness to the young clerk. My rather dratted interview with the chief was over, and I was told to make myself useful in the trading store until such time as council decided my fate. Then it might be James Bay or Hudson's Bay, Mackenzie River or New Caledonia, but what did we care, the Great West was before us and adventure filled our souls.

Shortly after my arrival some very unwelcome visitors arrived from across the American boundary in the shape of some three hundred Sioux Indians. They had been fighting with the Yankees as usual and retreated into British territory. Fierce looking chaps, simply clad in a breech-clout and buffalo robe, well armed and numbers of white scalps amongst them. One old devil had seven, several of which, judging by the long hair, had belonged to white women. But what interested one of the young McKay's (my fellow clerk) and myself was the fact of two white girls, both wives of the old interpreter, who were evidently of Scandinavian birth, having fair hair and blue eyes. Poor things, they were Sioux in everything but their birth, and had evidently been stolen as babies, probably in the great Minnesota massacre, where no doubt their parents had been killed. They were certainly under twenty years of age and quite attractive in appearance. Mr. Interpreter, however, kept a very careful eye on them, so we had no opportunity even for a mild flirtation, and then we neither of us could speak a word of Sioux.

These Indians demanded provisions from the company, as they were living on dogs and gophers with an occasional pony for a feast. But the chief would not give them, as they had neither furs nor traps. Finally he gave them some work in building a long causeway to a hay swamp, for which they were to receive pay daily in flour and pemican. Several of the men bossed the job; but being warriors they considered it infra dig to work, so set the women at it, and famous workers they were. Every night it was McKay's duty and mine to weigh out to each woman her individual pay in provisions, and there being a number of them this took some time.

Chief Factor McDonald had to leave on a short inspection trip, and before starting left strict orders with his second in command to be extremely careful in dealing with the Sioux, and this was needful, for we mustered only seven white men and of them there were three hundred, well armed by the Kitchi-Moko-moni (Indian name for the Yankees, meaning Big Knives), the Tigers of the Plains. Fort Ellis was the headquarters of the large Swan River district with many posts, and one evening as the Indian workers had come in for their pay, a clerk rode in from an outpost, unfortunately under the influence of liquor. He had that falling when drink was available, and on this occasion he had met some miners on the trail who were too generous with some alcohol. Most of the Sioux women had been paid off, and one of these (a chief's wife) rather a handsome young creature, was standing in the square, no doubt waiting for her friends. Mr. McDonald had tied up his horse, and seeing this woman alone reeled over to her, grabbed her by the heavy cloth skirt, pulled her over his head, and began to whip her bare person with his riding crop. Some of the other women ran to her help and managed to loose his hold. By this time, hearing the row, we had run out from the shop. The woman's face was a sight. She certainly looked murder and sudden death, while pouring out a torrent of Sioux words. Then with the women, away they went running for the Sioux encampment, giving what we knew afterwards to be the Sioux war cry. Out came the men like a swarm of bees, grabbing whatever weapon came to hand, her husband being prominent. As she met him, no doubt she told him of the dreadful insult (for there is no greater crime in an Indian's eyes than to expose his wife's nakedness). Mr. Clark, in his drunken fashion, had ran after the women, while the company's men who came hurrying up, were endeavoring to get the big gates closed. It was too late. Fortunately we had two old timers who had often wintered on the Plains and they grabbed Mr. — and hid him in a safe spot. Within a few moments the inside of the square was full of a yelling mob of armed and naked Sioux giving their thrilling war cry, "Wah-lah-lah!" One of the most atrocious looking devils grabbed me by the hair and swung me off my feet, while his tomahawk was playing circles round my head. Gouldie Harper, one of our old plainsmen, had told us on no account to resist, but to just put our hands down and take it. This I did, and finally some other heads amongst them came in and began to quiet the young warriors who were evidently thirsting for blood, especially for Mr. —, who was the cause of the trouble.

Soldiers' Re-Establishment

Hume Cronyn (London), who was recently re-appointed Chairman of the Special Committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

Pleading for Peace in Ireland

Archbishop of Canterbury's Protest Against Reprisals Is Endorsed By Non-Conformists.

London.—Endorsing the Archbishop of Canterbury's recent protest in the House of Lords against reprisals as in Ireland, nine bishops and heads of the principal non-conformist churches in Great Britain have sent a letter to the Prime Minister and Irish Secretary, pleading for peace in Ireland.

"The present policy," says the letter, "exposes us to misunderstanding and hostile criticism even of the friendliest of the world's nations."

The signatories include the moderator of the Scottish United Free Church, and the chairman of the Congregational and Baptist Unions of Scotland, the Wesleyan, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches and the Society of Friends.

Veterans Make Request

Full Army Pay Is Now Urged For Jobless Soldiers.

Ottawa.—Payment by the Government of army pay and allowances to all unemployed ex-service men, until such time as they are offered work commensurate with the physical condition, was urged upon the special re-establishment committee by J. F. Marsh, representing the Grand Army of United Veterans. Mr. Marsh declared that men were starving in Canada because no work was available for them. They did not want doles or charity, and the Government should provide them with means of subsistence.

B.C. Liquor Control Act.

Victoria.—The new Liquor Control Act will be brought into force on or about May 1, Attorney-General J. W. Delt Farris announces.

A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less excited out of order.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make the heart beat strong and regular, brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

James Perry, Reilly, Alta., writes:—"Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two boxes of your pills. I took them a few days and my whole system was in me, and when I had taken the two boxes I felt so much better I quit them. Now I take them at intervals, and am fine although 72 years of age."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

U.S. Claims Right to Participate In Peace Settlements

That It Did Not Join League of Nations Is Thought To Be No Barrier.

Washington.—Failure of the United States to ratify the treaty of Versailles, will not be allowed to detract from that country's right to participate in peace settlements, Secretary Hughes declared in notes addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. The note to Japan differed from the other three, in that it referred more specifically to the Japanese mandate over the Island of Yap.

All four notes reiterated the contention that the United States had sacrificed no rights in the peace settlement by reason of its unwillingness to join the League of Nations.

"The fact that the United States has not ratified the treaty of Versailles," the note said, "cannot detract from rights to which the United States is already entitled. It is hardly necessary to suggest that a treaty to which the United States is not a party, could affect those rights."

Continuing, Secretary Hughes said: "As the United States did not enter into this council or to any treaty relating to the subject, this Government is unable to understand upon what ground it was thereafter attempted to confer the mandate without the agreement of the United States. It is manifest that the League of Nations was without authority to bind the United States, and that the confirmation of the mandate in question and the definition of its terms by the Council of the League of Nations in December, 1920, cannot be regarded as having effect with respect to the United States."

Vindicates Transcontinental

Division of Traffic Now Going Through U.S. Is Sought By Senate.

Ottawa.—The Senate discussed the National Transcontinental Railway and the diversion of Canadian grain through United States ports. Although no definite action was taken in the latter regard, there was general approval of the necessity of immediate investigation into such diversion.

The subject arose in continued debate on the export trade of Quebec. Senator Lorne Webster said that the contract between the National Transcontinental and the City of Quebec, made in 1904 and confirmed in 1910 was unfulfilled.

The Transcontinental had reduced the distance between Quebec and Winnipeg by 200 miles and had also reduced the grades. Since 1916, however, not a bushel of grain had come over the line to Quebec.

The water and rail rate from Winnipeg to New York was 33.9 cents per bushel and all-rail from Winnipeg to Quebec was 36 cents.

In recent years there has been shipped from the west 1,096,000,000 bushels of grain and of this amount 518,000,000 bushels had gone via New York. Of the remainder, a great deal was manufactured into flour, leaving only a small quantity to export through Canadian ports. This discrimination was unfair, as the Canadian water routes had been made perfectly safe by aids to navigation. The matter called for immediate investigation.

Senator J. P. B. Casgrain said that the debate vindicated the policy of the construction of the Transcontinental Railway. That railway had shortened the mileage between Winnipeg and Quebec by 220 miles and shortened the time of travel by 14 hours, and was one of the greatest railways in the world. It should be utilized to a greater extent and there should be less talk about the "crazy scheme of deepening the St. Lawrence channel."

Calgary Teachers' Strike Is Off.

Calgary.—The Calgary teachers will not strike. Another long discussion ended in a decision to accept the offer of the school board for advances totalling $40,000, under protest. The teachers had previously agreed to accept a 50-50 compromise, which would have brought increase totalling $87,000.

Ralph Connor's Motion Picture.

Calgary.—The first picture production based on Ralph Connor's novels to be marketed, is "Cameron of the Royal Mounted," which was sold recently to the First National Company of New York, with an initial payment down of $125,000.

Cup Contender Launched.

Shelburne, N.S.—The entire population of Shelburne turned out to witness the launching of the schooner Canadian, which the owner hopes will be one of the cup contenders in the international schooner race at Halifax next autumn.

In China the bride-elect sends her future husband his wedding dress.

Turkish Cruelties

Understood That Britain Will Make An Official Protest Regarding

London.—An official British protest is understood to be in prospect as a result of alleged Turkish cruelties and atrocities on Greek and Armenian Christians in Asia Minor. Terrorism is reported to prevail in Caesarea, when many Greek and Armenian Christians were killed.

In official circles, it is stated, a number of charges and counter-charges from the Greeks and Turks have been received in British quarters throughout the period of hostilities. The Greek charges are said to have been sustained and the British protest will be made direct to the Turks.

Trouble Over Catholic Unions

Member for Quebec East Says That Minister of Labor Has Been Unfair.

Ottawa.—Demands for the resignation of Hon. G. D. Robertson, minister of labor, were made during a debate on the subject of Catholic National Unions, precipitated by the House of Commons on a motion to go into supply, by Ernest Lapointe, member for Quebec East.

Mr. Lapointe declared that the minister of labor had been unfair in his treatment of the delegates from the national unions and that he had discriminated against them in favor of the internationals. The National Union had asked for representation in the forthcoming building trades conference, and not only had that been refused, but the deputation had been informed by the minister that their unions were dangerous and were liable to cause racial and religious strife.

To Adjust Park Act.

Victoria, B.C.—To adjust administration matters between the Dominion and Provincial Governments, George R. Naden, deputy minister of lands for British Columbia, has left for Ottawa.

Mr. Naden will take up the settlement of the situation caused by the Banff-Windermere Park Act and several matters dealing with titles to mineral claims in the railway belt.

Canada's Fuel Problem.

Vancouver.—Dealing with Canada's fuel problem in its national and international aspects during an address before the University of British Columbia, Arthur V. White, consulting engineer of the Commission of Conservation of Canada, strongly urged that special effort be made to secure increased storage of coal in the summer months.

Recovers His Speech.

Minneapolis.—Paul Robertson, of Brooklyn, former soldier, who lost his voice after being shell shocked and gassed in France 31 months ago, suddenly recovered his speech here recently.

Resigns From House.

Ottawa.—Sir Thos. White has resigned his seat in the House of Commons.

Gigantic Irrigation Project

Irrigation Scheme to Cost $7,000,000 Is Financed For Alberta.

Calgary.—Word has been received from the London offices of the Canada Land and Irrigation Company, Medicine Hat, that satisfactory financial arrangements have been made for the largest construction programme for its big irrigation project, undertaken for some years. This will include construction of distribution systems for many thousands of acres served by the main ditches. This is a $7,000,000 project, which has been under way for ten years.

Canada Ratifies Protocol.

Geneva.—Canada has just signed the protocol ratifying the statute of the International Court of Justice, her action bringing the number of states which had adhered to the court, up to twenty-eight.

U.S. Ammunition in Ireland

Discovery of an Underground Dump in Dublin.

London.—Methods by which the Sinn Feiners are receiving arms and ammunition have been disclosed by the discovery of an underground dump in Dublin. Ammunition boxes found there bear the stamp of a powder works in Massachusetts.

The boxes, the newspaper asserts, were shipped by Irish-American sympathizers who had established wireless communication between gun runners on the west coast of Ireland and in the United States.

Take Arms From Dublin Police.

Dublin.—All the arms and ammunition in possession of the Dublin Metropolitan Police have been collected by the military authorities. It is considered unlikely that they will carry arms in the future, owing to their recent disarmament at the hands of rebels.

Success Attends Plan For Placing Soldier Settlers on the Land

Practically every country implicated in the maelstrom of the Great War, and experiencing the same problems in the aftermath, has paid warm tribute to the generous manner in which Canada treated her returned warriors and the effective measures she devised for their successful re-establishment in civil life. In common with other belligerent nations, Canada was faced with the problem of rehabilitating a huge army alienated, after years of hardship and contention with primitive conditions, from their pre-war existence, and facing an uncertain future with vastly differing ideals and an entirely changed outlook upon life.

It was a wise procedure, both for the nation and the individual soldier, to encourage the army to go on the land, and to assist soldier settlers in such a manner as to become producers almost immediately instead of undergoing the hardships and years of slim revenue, which often are the lot of the pioneer. That the years of war had turned the minds of many towards the land is indicated by the response to questionnaires distributed to soldiers shortly after the armistice, when 487,771 men advised their desire to take up farming as their life work, whereas there were only 172,218 of these who, previous to their enlistment, had been so employed. Only 4,175 men in the Canadian army, who had previously been farmers, wished to leave their calling to follow others. The subsidized, assisted project of the Soldier Settlement Board has proved immensely popular, as witness the fact that in the two years which have elapsed since the armistice up till December last, when the last figures were published, approximately 59,900 returned soldiers have been allocated for the purpose of qualifying, 42,000 have been declared qualified whilst approximately 20,000 have received advances amounting to more than $80,000,000.

Alberta has received by far the largest number of these settlers, followed by Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia. Of the total, eighty-five per cent. of soldier settlers have located on land west of the Great Lakes, the figures by provinces being: Alberta, 5,710; Saskatchewan, 4,875; Manitoba, 3,289; British Columbia, 2,941; Ontario, 1,403; New Brunswick, 505; Quebec, 459; Nova Scotia, 395; Prince Edward Island, 302.

The loans approved by the provinces are: Alberta, $22,289,021; Saskatchewan, $19,942,091; Manitoba, $13,267,826; British Columbia, $12,587,021; Ontario, $6,064,042; Quebec, $1,899,434; New Brunswick, $1,449,704; Nova Scotia, $1,287,928; Prince Edward Island, $814,947.

That Canadian soldiers have co-operated in every way to make their re-establishment by way of the land successful, and entered wholeheartedly into the pursuit of agriculture once they had undertaken it, is manifested in their overwhelming success as reported by inspectors of the Soldier Settlement Board. These experienced agriculturists, who periodically visit the farms operated by soldiers who have obtained loans from the board, have stated that ninety-five per cent. are making good and proving successful farmers, and that, furthermore, of the remaining five per cent., the majority are failing not from inexperience, poor farming, or lack of personal qualities, but owing to physical hindrance in the recurrence of their war disabilities. The board reports that since the harvesting of the 1920 crop, repayments on loans are being made very much ahead of the dates specified. Though the payments extend over a period of twenty-five years, and the board has been in operation a little more than two years, nearly 300 men have, as a result of their successful farming operations, been able to pay off their total indebtedness.

From the national standpoint, and viewing it in the light of its contribution to agricultural production, the success of the Soldier Settlement Board's scheme is of prime importance.

to Canada. To date, it has resulted in the locating of 20,000 men on the land under the most favorable conditions, both economic and social. These men have, in the form of soldier-grant entries, received 2,000,000 acres, and by purchase or through the exercise of their civilian right, secured another 1,100,000 acres of a total of 3,100,000 acres. It is also to be remembered that, so far, less than one-half of those who have qualified have been placed. Estimating the yield on this land at 14.5 bushels per acre, this year's average over the Dominion, these soldier lands are responsible for an additional 45,000,000 bushels on Canada's wheat crop.

Marquis Wheat Leads

Best Wheat Does Not Always Make Highest Quality Bread.

That the best looking wheat does not always make the best bread was again demonstrated this year when the returns were received at the University of Saskatchewan, giving the result of the baking and milling tests of the prize winning wheat at the Provincial Seed Fair held at the University in January. W. J. F. Warren, of Bellevue, who was awarded fourth prize for Marquis wheat from prize-winning field entered in Standing Grain competition, won first honors in the milling and baking test with a loaf which was practically perfect, while Kenneth Canfield of Shellbrook, who was first honors for Marquis wheat at the Provincial Seed Fair, went down to 21st place in the milling and baking competition.

Marquis wheat again led the field in the baking and milling test. Scager Wheeler winning second place, R. M. McCurdy, of Asquith, third, and Davis Bros., of Perdue, fourth place, all with Marquis wheat. Geo. S. Canfield, of Wild Rose, who won first honors for Red Fife at the seed fair, went down to 19th place in the baking and milling test, and the Ruby wheat for which Mr. Canfield won first place for any other variety of spring wheat, was graded 265, lowest of all in the milling and baking contest.

Many War Books

French War Museum Has More Than 100,000 Books Written About the War.

The output of printed matter, relating to the war was known to be prodigious, but the figures stagger an imagination prepared for the worst. The French War Museum in Paris has provided space to accommodate more than 100,000 books written about the war and has devoted two and a half miles of shelves to the preservation of newspapers and periodicals bearing on it.

Can all that has been written about the Trojan War in thirty centuries, or about Napoleon's Wars, begin to match this production of World War literature in six and a half years? And the presses are still working overtime. Surely an intolerable deluge of paper and ink to overlay the vital facts which it will be the duty of the historian to disentangle and compile for the hasty reading of posterity. Who can envy the task of the conscientious explorer of these dust heaps?

Eighty librarians and translators are even now employed in arranging the volumes. Who but a super-librarian can possibly do more than read the titles? Perhaps nature will provide another H. G. Wells for the job, but all ordinary historians will get lost in this wilderness of printed words.—The N.Y. World.

Those Who Put It Off

Many Men Neglect to Make Their Will Until It Is Too Late.

A man hates to make his will because he does not want to contemplate even the possibility that need could arise for the existence of such a thing.

Yet cases occur every day where the need does arise and there is no such document. Not long ago a prominent lawyer died leaving no will, and many of his clients knew that for years he had insistently urged on everybody whose adviser he was the necessity of having a will in readiness. He made almost a hobby of it, and yet he died intestate himself. He had good advice for all, but did not follow it himself. It is another instance of the truth, that we regard all men mortal but ourselves. We have even known editors to write urgently on this subject with their own lives unmade, but this does not apply in the present case.

The man whose business affairs are of large dimensions usually keeps a will in hand, changing it or making a new one as the need arises. He has much business with his lawyer, the existence of a will is a matter of business, and his large and complicated interests necessitate a will as a power of regulation for the future, and as an assurance of the continuity of his enterprise. But where a man's affairs are more personal he puts off his will-making. It is a thing he can do at any time and so he does not do it at all. Then a fatal illness comes to him, and he must do it—too late sometimes no opportunity is given him.

A man has a curious notion that if he makes his will it is a sign that he is beginning to quit—that he has turned down the home-stretch. This is something he does not want to admit. Of course the idea is absurd. The having of a will in readiness for any eventuality, however remote it may seem, is mere prudence. This everyone will admit, but if a list were published in any city, town, or village of those who at this moment have no will made, it would cause much astonishment.—Toronto Star.

Big Plane For North Country.

The Larsen all-metal plane for the Imperial Oil Company, the third of its kind to reach the north, arrived at Edmonton recently from New York. The flight from Saskatoon, the last stopping place, was made in four hours and ten minutes, and the actual flying time from New York was twenty-eight hours and twenty minutes. The plane was in charge of Lt. Myers, and had as a passenger J. L. Myers, who controls the American rights for the machines.

A Real Aid to Agriculture.

A real aid to agriculture, and one of the most progressive steps taken in the development of the province, is the system of soil surveys and the provision of district agents initiated by the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Duncan Marshall. The minister has grasped the right view and has put into practice that practical knowledge of agriculture with which he is credited.—Leithbridge Herald.

"The Prince of Wales' Book"

The Most Fascinating Picture Book Ever Offered to the Public.

Messrs. Hodder and Stoughton publish today that eagerly awaited volume, "The Prince of Wales' Book." It is a work of extraordinary interest, surpassing in variety and beauty the highest expectations which the public had formed. The price is 7s. 6d. net, and the book is issued on behalf of St. Dunstan's Hostel. In every copy is placed a sheet bearing the following words, facsimiled from the Prince's autograph: "I hope that all who can will buy this book of photographs, and help me to secure the largest possible assistance for our sailors and soldiers who were blinded in the war." In the introductory chapter, His Royal Highness pleads for the heroes from whom war has exacted so terrible a sacrifice. We have here, beyond question, the most fascinating picture book ever offered to the public. It illustrates every phase of the Prince's tour in Canada, the United States, New Zealand, Australia, and the Pacific Islands. A brief narrative of each separate visit precedes the groups of photographs. The ambassador of empire is here shown as an officer, a diver, a "digger," and an Indian chief. His love of many sports is illustrated in a hundred ways. We can understand why he returned home in splendid health, notwithstanding the fatigues of an almost endless succession of ceremonial duties. We see him fishing at Virgin Falls, in camp with cowboys, shooting in the marshes of Qu'Appelle, Lake Saskatchewan, at football and baseball matches, and on horseback in many lands. A full-length photograph in the Australian section shows the royal traveller "Digging," the Australian wallaby, who became one of the chief pets on board the Renown, and died, to the grief of all, at Trinidad—English Exchange.

Nature Restores

Timber Rapidly

Ontario Farmer Demonstrates What Nature Will Do If Left Alone.

The comparative rapidity with which nature will restore timber, growth is shown by the experience of Mr. William Keppy, of Magnetawan, Ont. "Spruce trees planted on my place 30 years ago have since reached a height of 40 feet and a diameter of a foot to 16 inches. This was the result of artificial planting. It is surprising what nature will do if left alone, however. A portion of our farm, unsuited to agriculture purposes, burned over 28 years ago, is now thickly covered with spruce, balsam and pine, many of the trees 25 feet high."

Lonely Widows Seeking Husbands.

"Tension lately returned soldiers in Canada!" There is a platoon of widows at Highgate, Oklahoma, looking for husbands, according to a letter sent by one of them, who admits she is "young and good looking," to T. T. Bower, Winnipeg, postmaster, and characterized as the most unique record by him in his many years experience with the post office department. She is an American ex-soldier's widow. "Triflers," she states, "need not apply."

Deer Are Growing Plentiful.

Reports from Waterton Lakes Park in Alberta, declare that owing to the regulations protecting deer, the herds are increasing most rapidly. The deer park said to be in first-class condition for spring, following the very mild winter experienced.

At Some of the London docks when two men make a trade agreement they exchange black beans as tokens of honesty. This is regarded as more binding than a written and signed contract.

The Kansas City Star takes a sane view of what has been termed the cooling off in the relations between the United States and Britain.

"Oil, cables, the Irish and the navy building programmes," it says, "are not likely to obscure the fundamentals. Americans and Britons know what those are and are prepared to stand a good many annoyances in preserving them."

The Star is inclined to believe that the diplomats find things to worry about to which the people of either country have never given two thoughts.

On the other hand, it will be admitted that there is much ignorance in each country concerning the other, which leads to suspicion, most often unfounded.

This was realized by Mr. John William Davis, the retiring American ambassador at the Court of St. James. A great lawyer, a profound student of constitutional history and of international affairs, Mr. Davis has used his knowledge and his gifts as a speaker to further the campaign of international enlightenment. He has lectured to British students on "The Treaty-Making Power of the United States," and on "The Constitution of the United States," and on kindred subjects.

Sir Auckland Geddes has been criticized because as ambassador to Washington he has gone outside of the ordinary diplomatic grooves to talk directly to the American people. The diplomats could well do more of that sort of thing and confine themselves less to the secret chambers of embassies. They would then gain more accurate information on what the feelings of the people may be.

Lord Robert Cecil recently declared that all the questions between Britain and America are adjustable by discussion and mark no real conflict of interests. The conditions of the world call for co-operation by England and the United States. Only the enemies of both countries, and the enemies of world peace, desire to see them estranged by differences that confidence and reasonableness can easily remedy.—Calgary Herald.

A Word for Barley

Late Seeding Should Be Thicker Than Early Seeding.

The College of Agriculture, at Edmonton, from a study of this question, all parts of the province, states that "wheat should be sown late, as early as the land will work to advantage. Oats and barley should be sown as soon after wheat as convenient. When oats and barley are sown after May 20, a maximum crop of good quality is not certain. In localities that suffer from hot winds in the late summer crop should be sown as early as possible; if the hot winds come early in the summer then possibly a little later seeding may be better." Threshed crops withstand dry weather best, while thickly seeded crops mature earlier. Late seeding, if tried, should be thicker than early seeding. Send to the department of agriculture, Edmonton, for field husbandry circular No. 2—"Seed Preparation of Cereals, Seeding."

Manna Still Falling

United States Consul Writes From Mesopotamia of Peculiar Dew.

The feeding of the children of Israel upon manna from heaven during the 40 years of wandering in the wilderness on route to the land of Canaan, as related in the Bible, is not mere poetry and does not record a miracle. This is the conviction of Oscar S. Heizer, United States consul at Jerusalem, in an official report. Consul Heizer states that manna is found now in the regions of upper Mesopotamia and Kurdistan and along the Persian frontier. It falls, he says, in the form of dew.

Immediately after falling, the manna hardens and assumes the form of a grain. Early in the morning, before the heat of the day, it is gathered.

The increase for this year is taken as an indication that Western Canada is handling its big programme of deferred building.

Electricity From the Air

Prof. Paulsen Declares the Atmosphere is a Storehouse of Electricity.

Prof. Paulsen, of Hamburg, declares that the atmosphere is a storehouse of electricity, and he believes that unlimited supplies of the "juice" can be extracted from that source.

He suggests that balloons be used as collecting antennae. They should have metallic surface bristling with points. Set up in groups, and connected with an aerial network of conducting wires, they would gather electricity at an elevation of three hundred yards and transmit it by wire to suitably equipped stations on the earth.

Thus could be drawn out of the sky a continuous high-frequency current which might be employed for all sorts of useful purposes, including electro-chemistry and electro-metallurgy. Energy thus obtained would be much cheaper than what coal could be carried on in desert areas and over lakes, so as not to occupy territory valuable for agriculture or other purposes.

Remember the Musical Service at Union Church, next Sunday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The Choir Concert will take place at Union Church, on Monday, May 9th. Splendid progress is being made by the Choir for this event, the music being of a very attractive character.

Every farmer should be alive to the necessity of sowing only seed grain which has been tested for germination. The Crossfield branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce has the facilities for the testing of seed grain. You are invited to bring in a sample of your seed grain and avail yourself of this service.

The Magic Lantern Views exhibited last Tuesday night, at Union Church were much enjoyed. Mr. John Irvine, Secretary of the Navy League who has prepared most of the slides himself from photographs. These included views of the Navy, more especially in action during the War at Zeebrugge, Ostend, Falkland Islands, the sinking of the Emden, submarines at work, etc. The Camp scenes were taken at Sylvan Lake where our boys will be camping this summer and aroused a lot of interest.

Organization Among Seed Growers in Alberta

The Beginning of an Important Movement for Supplying Pure Seed

By Professor G. H. Culler, College of Agriculture, University of Alberta

Nearly all the provinces of the Dominion and states in the Union have given some attention to the organization of seed-growers. It is not the intention herein to go into a discussion of the different organizations that have been affected, but to refer to what Alberta is prepared to do for those farmers who are interested in and feel qualified to undertake seed-growing on a scale that makes it worth while not only to the individual but as well to the community at large.

During the past three years the department of Field Husbandry of the University of Alberta has been putting forth every effort to standardize and purify old varieties and breed up new ones of the different farm crops. During that time there has been an insistent and ready demand for pure seed representing reliable varieties, and for information as to how registered seed can be obtained or produced. In answer to these applications for seed, samples in nearly every case have been sent out. The size of the samples has varied from a few ounces for testing to three bushels or more for multiplication. During the past two seasons over fifteen hundred samples of seeds were placed in the hands of interested seed growers who are undertaking to test and multiply given improved and purified strains of the different farm crops. We feel that this is the beginning of a very important improvement in seed production in Alberta, but if it is to attain its highest development, organization of a definite character seems imperative. For instance, after spending years of effort upon the improvement of a given strain of wheat, it is not enough that it be distributed promiscuously. On the contrary a scheme must be developed whereby strains and varieties can be distributed and multiplied expeditiously, so that they ultimately may reach the greatest number of growers, true to name and variety, and in the highest possible state of purity. In meeting, adequately, therefore, the needs of the farmers of Alberta, the University at Edmonton is prepared to co-ordinate all co-operating seed-testing, seed distribution and multiplication work under one organization to be known as "Alberta Crop Improvement Association," with headquarters at the university, under the administration of the head of the department of Field Husbandry.
